Why access matters

Participation

Sport and physical activity are important to health and wellbeing and remain a national policy priority.

Access

Ease of access to suitable facilities is an important factor in participation.

Planning

The Sports Action Plan includes a focus on planning future facility needs, including locations and types of facilities.

Ireland’s National Swimming Strategy

Published in 2024

A national framework for swimming

- Developed following public and stakeholder consultation.
- Vision: everyone should have the opportunity to swim.
- 51 actions across five thematic strands.
- Implementation involves Government Departments, State Agencies and stakeholders.

What the consultation told us

Facilities are one part of a wider participation picture

A key consultation finding

The public consultation suggested that existing swimming pool stock was insufficient.

Infrastructure

One of the Strategy's areas of focus.

Access & inclusion

Availability and accessibility matter for participation.

Participation

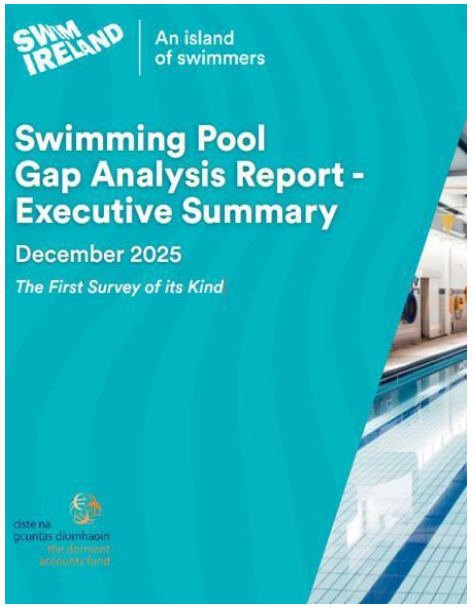
Swimming Pool Gap Analysis

Evidence being examined by the Department

Swim Ireland report

The analysis considers:

- Condition and age of pools
- Community accessibility and lessons
- Energy and sustainability
- Provincial and county distribution



Departmental perspective

The Department is examining the report as an evidence source to inform future consideration.
